	The daughter of Lord Richard and Lady Amelia Westbrook of Surrey, Abigail was a bright and gifted child who received an extensive education and graduated early from Cambridge University with a degree in archaeology. She spent the next several years training under Dane Roth, a former British SAS operative who undertook dangerous archaeological expeditions to far-flung corners of the world in search of historical artifacts. During one such expedition to the Himalayas, Abigail stumbled upon several Cobra-La artifacts and developed a fascination with them.
	Unfortunately, Roth was killed during a subsequent expedition, but Abigail escaped with several more artifacts and proved herself a capable survivor. Shortly after, G.I. Joe recruited her for her obvious abilities and her growing expertise and knowledge of Cobra-La. Since her recruitment, Westbrook has undertaken further training to hone her survival and combat skills.
